Herman (Germany) Schaefer.

The New York American league baseball club has obtained from the Newark Reds the big league veteran, Herman (Germany) Schaefer. Schaefer, who is a valuable utility infielder and coach in addition to his ability to amuse the crowds with comedy from the coaching box, will be used in a general capacity.

LARGE CROWD AT OPENING OF ELITE ATHLETIC CLUB

Jimmie Johns Knocks Out Colored Fighter in First Round—Mysterious Jimmie Brown and Eddie Dallas Give the Fans an Excellent Exhibition—Wrestling Bout Is Clever.

The formal opening of the Elite Athletic club took place in the club gymnasium at the Armory hall on Twenty-fourth street, last night. The attendance exceeded even the most sanguine expectations of the club directors and Manager Smith, more than 800 boxing and wrestling fans being present. This was taken as an indication that the club had filled a long felt want and that its future is bright. In every respect the program was finely handled and all of the participants made a good impression.

The ring, in which five boxing contests and one wrestling bout were staged, was built in the middle of the big gymnasium. A large number of seats were placed around it, but these were soon filled and many of the fans remained standing throughout the program. This condition will be remedied before next Wednesday night, the date of the next public tournament so that all of the patrons may be comfortably seated.

Billy Boyle and Kid Moss opened the program with a four-round contest that went to a draw. Both displayed much cleverness, the former proving a good fighter and the latter an offense.

This was followed by the fastest exhibition of wrestling ever given by local amateurs, the principals being Scott Wallace of North Ogden and Tony Campbell, featherweights. The bout went the limit of a half hour, and the fans were given a fine idea of the speed and physical development that can be found in the wrestling game. The two youths went into the contest seeking the featherweight amateur wrestling championship of Utah, but they will be required to meet again, as the referee called the affair a draw—a popular decision.

Jimmie Johns put Kid Wesley out in one round, the referee deciding that the Ogden youth was much too clever for his opponent. Wesley was not badly hurt, but Johns showed ability that should put him in a feature bout at an early date.

Blackie Maylan and Red Andrews boxed four fast rounds at fast gait and the referee decided that honors were even between them. Whitney Johnson, one of the hardest hitting boxers in this locality, gave Dan Stewart his full limit of punishment in three rounds and was awarded the decision.

The main event in the opening card was a four-round bout between "Mysterious" Jimmy Brown of Ogden and Eddie Dallas of New York. In matching these boys for the event, Manager Smith displayed good judgment as their boxing won the most enthusiastic applause of the evening. Both worked hard for a decision, putting much speed and boxing skill into their efforts to win. At the end of the fourth round, the referee declared the bout, which was one of the best short events that has been seen in the city, a draw.

HARVARD SPORTS TO BE REGULATED

Dean Briggs Would Like to See Team Act Gentlemanly on Field.

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 26.—The promotion of good feeling in intercollegiate athletics is urged in the report of last season's activities, made public tonight by Dean Leabanon R. Briggs, chairman of the committee on the regulation of athletic sports at Harvard university.

"It is the hope of the committee," says Dean Briggs, "to avoid these bickerings, which magnified by the press, have from time to time roused unfriendly feeling, and to establish in intercollegiate athletics a more generous and open relation than has existed hitherto. There is no reason why a Harvard man and a Yale man should have anything to conceal from each other regarding their athletics or their athletic policy. Strategy in a game may be legitimate and admirable, strategy in the negotiations of friendly rivals is inexcusable and constant suspicion is as intolerable as it is unjust. The time for political maneuvering in athletics is gone and should never have come. Yale, Harvard and Princeton closely bound together in athletic sport, are doing their best to maintain in that sport a relation of straightforward courtesy."

Regarding baseball the report says: "Bad manners on the baseball field and tactics that in some cases would be considered as unsportsmanlike, still are regarded by students and the general public as part of the game; and of these bad manners Harvard teams, though in general composed of clean players, are not yet wholly free. A large part of what players say on the field results from deliberate adoption of a technical vocabulary, cheap and meager in itself and at best doubtful in its purposes." Dean Briggs says he personally believes the rule banishing coaches from the players' bench during a baseball game "worth maintaining," but that the question is "one of expediency rather than of right."

EDDIE FOY IN BILLIARD MATCH

Salt Lake, Jan. 26.—Eddie Foy, famed comedian, will take on Howard Slater this afternoon at 4 o'clock in an exhibition billiard match at the Orpheum billiard parlors. Slater is reputed to be one of the best in Salt Lake, but it is said he will more than have a match in Foy, who is credited with having hobbled with the champs of the world over the green. Foy once defeated Willie Hoppe, and his skill at the game has won him a reputation wherever he goes.

Slater is manager of the Orpheum hall and has been practicing daily. In this he has little on Foy, however, who believes that he should put in at least one hour per day when he is not on the road in chasing the little white balls around the table.

Foy is as much a comedian off the stage as he is on the boards, and it is a treat just to be around him. This, coupled with his cue skill, will draw a large crowd to the hall and special arrangements will be made to take care of those who attend. All of the seven little Foy's will be on hand to root for their father and will give him advice as to the best way to play his shots. No admission fee will be charged.

SALARY LIMIT OF COAST LEAGUERS

Frisco, Los Angeles and Vernon Want $5000—Other Clubs $4500—Salt Lake Not Decided.

San Francisco, Jan. 26.—It will in all probability be up to Salt Lake to cast the deciding vote as to whether the Pacific Coast league, having decided upon a $4,500 salary limit, will now disregard, or rather abandon, that resolution and boost the ante to $5,000.

Henry Barry, San Francisco owner, who returned today after one of his frequent visits to the southland, while refusing to take any decided stand, certainly gave the impression that to say the least, he does not object to an increase.

Judge McCredie of Portland, together with Leavitt and Cook of Oakland, is strong for no change in the present system of things. Ed Maier of Vernon and Johnny Powers of the Angels are just as assured in favor of giving their managers a little more leeway.

Interviewers are convinced that when Barry does vote it will be to string with the southerners. "It is not for myself, but for the best interests of the league," is about as much as he will permit himself to say. "There are a number of things to be considered. We have to give due consideration to the weaker clubs, and, on the other hand, we must not burden ourselves with a limit that is going to injure any of the clubs in the league."

With all of this mass of conversation and no results, Barry intimates "just between you and me and the gatepost" that he doesn't believe there will be any change of heart.

EFFICIENCY EXPERT AT THE ROUNDUP IN LOGAN

Logan, Jan. 26.—The application of efficiency principles to the farm in such a scientific and at the same time practical way that the farmer can tell exactly where he is farming correctly and exactly what his mistakes are, was the subject of an unusually absorbing lecture at the roundup today. E. B. Brossard, farm efficiency expert for Utah, told the farmers some of the things he had found on more than 650 farms, which he has studied in seven counties of Utah.

The principles of efficiency management are considered essential in industrial plants today, explained Mr. Brossard. So, why couldn't efficiency experts analyze the farm with just as good results, he asked. Mr. Brossard then proceeded to present to the farmers a series of charts, such as he has made on hundreds of Utah farms. He showed where good farming methods were employed, and where mistakes were being made.

Taking one farm in Emery county as an example, Mr. Brossard proved conclusively that the owner was actually losing $922 every single year he operated it. With an investment of more than $14,000 in the farm, Mr. Brossard proved that the farmer could far better afford to sell the place and work for wages.

MAY SOON LOSE JOB AS BASEBALL HEAD

Garry Herrman.

It is believed that Garry Herrman is nearing the end of his career as head of the national baseball commission, the supreme court of baseball. Dissolution of the commission and the formation of a new baseball body to take the place of the Herrmann-Johnson-Tener triumvirate, it is predicted, will come to pass near the close of the present year.

ers present on the methods of organizing such companies and urged the adoption of such mutual insurance in other parts of the state.

David A. Smith of Salt Lake, a member of the presiding bishopric of the Mormon church and one of the owners of a highly successful dairy farm in Salt Lake county, was the other speaker today. Bishop Smith talked on "Factors in Successful Farming." Illustrating his talk with an interesting chart which he prepared himself, the speaker discussed at considerable length the advantages of organization and co-operation among farmers.

Education and co-operation through farmers' organizations were two absolute essentials for successful farming in this day, said Bishop Smith. He praised the efficiency methods prescribed by Mr. Brossard and declared they formed part of the education which the farmers must have. He must know what his costs are, what his receipts are, what one branch of farming is bringing him and whether another would pay him better.

Bishop Smith urged improvement of the breeds of livestock. There especially, he declared, organization was valuable. Individual farmers in many cases, did not have the capital with which to purchase the better breeds of animals by the importation of bulls, rams, boars and the like of high standard would be comparatively expensive. Marketing, too, became a much more simple problem, said Bishop Smith, where organized methods were employed.

The latter part of the afternoon yesterday was devoted to an entertainment program for the men and women. Under the direction of Professor Frank R. Arnold plays were presented in the college chapel for the amusement of roundup visitors. The program proved to be delightfully entertaining and was thoroughly enjoyed by an audience of some 500 persons.

A pretty and instructive program of dancing opened the session of the housekeepers' conference this afternoon. The dancing was in charge of Miss Mary Johnson, instructor in physical education for women at the college.

The principal address of the afternoon was given by Mrs. Lily C. Wolstenholme of Salt Lake, member of the legislature. Mrs. Wolstenholme made a plea for "Utah Products for Utah People." She pointed to the advantages to be gained by the use of Utah products, and declared that where Utah products could be had it was an economic advantage to use them.

An interesting lecture and demonstration in hairdressing was then given by Mrs. C. G. Warren of Logan. She dwelt particularly on the question of dressing the hair to suit the individual.
